Introduction

HIV/AIDS knowledge and sexual behaviour UNISA represent critical areas of concern within the university community, reflecting broader public health challenges faced across South Africa and globally. As one of the largest universities in Africa, the University of South Africa (UNISA) plays a pivotal role in shaping the awareness, attitudes, and behaviours of its diverse student body regarding HIV/AIDS. Understanding the levels of knowledge, the prevalent sexual behaviours, and the effectiveness of educational interventions at UNISA is essential for developing targeted strategies to reduce transmission, foster safer practices, and promote health literacy among students. This article explores various facets of HIV/AIDS knowledge, sexual behaviour patterns, and the interventions in place at UNISA, providing insights into the ongoing efforts and challenges in combating the epidemic within academic settings.

Overview of HIV/AIDS in South Africa and the Context of UNISA

The HIV/AIDS Epidemic in South Africa

South Africa remains one of the countries most severely affected by HIV/AIDS globally, with an estimated 8.2 million people living with the virus as of 2022. The epidemic has profound social, economic, and health implications, influencing every facet of life. Factors such as high prevalence rates, stigma, limited access to healthcare, and socio-economic disparities contribute to ongoing transmission. University students, being in an age group with high sexual activity levels, are particularly vulnerable, necessitating targeted educational and behavioural interventions.

UNISA's Demographics and Unique Challenges

UNISA's student population is highly diverse, comprising individuals from various socio-economic backgrounds, age groups, and geographic locations. Many students balance studies with work and family commitments, which can influence their sexual behaviours and access to health services. Additionally, the university's distance learning model presents unique challenges in delivering consistent, engaging, and effective health education programs, making it crucial to evaluate and adapt strategies to enhance HIV/AIDS awareness and safe sexual practices among students.

Assessing HIV/AIDS Knowledge at UNISA

Levels of Awareness and Understanding

Research indicates that general awareness of HIV/AIDS is relatively high among university students, including those at UNISA. Most students recognize that HIV is a virus that can lead to AIDS, understanding modes of transmission such as unprotected sexual intercourse, sharing needles, and mother-to-child transmission. However, gaps in knowledge persist concerning specific details, myths, and misconceptions.

Common Misconceptions and Myths

Despite high awareness levels, misconceptions continue to circulate, impacting behaviour. Some prevalent myths include:

- HIV can be transmitted through casual contact like hugging or sharing utensils.
- HIV can be cured with traditional medicine or herbal remedies.
- Consuming certain foods or behaviors can prevent HIV infection.

Addressing these misconceptions is vital for effective prevention and education efforts.

Sources of HIV/AIDS Information

Students typically obtain information from multiple sources, including:

- University health services and awareness campaigns
- Social media and online platforms
- Peer groups and community networks
- Mass media outlets like radio and television
- Educational curricula and health education sessions

The credibility, relevance, and engagement level of these sources influence the depth of students' understanding.

Sexual Behaviour Patterns among UNISA Students

Prevalence of Sexual Activity

Many UNISA students report being sexually active, with variations based on age, gender, and socio-economic factors. While some engage in protected sex, others may practice unprotected sex due to various reasons, including lack of access to condoms, peer pressure, or misconceptions about risk.

Risky Sexual Behaviours

Several risky behaviours have been identified among students, such as:

- Multiple sexual partners within a short period
- Inconsistent or non-use of condoms
- Engaging in transactional sex or sex under the influence of alcohol or drugs
- Having sex with partners of unknown HIV status

These behaviours significantly increase the risk of HIV transmission.

Factors Influencing Sexual Behaviour

Various factors shape sexual practices among students:

- Knowledge and perception of personal risk
- Peer influence and social norms
- Access to condoms and sexual health services
- Stigma and fear associated with HIV testing and disclosure
- Relationship dynamics and attitudes towards sexuality

Understanding these factors is essential for designing effective behavioural interventions.

HIV Prevention Strategies at UNISA

Educational and Awareness Campaigns

UNISA employs multiple strategies to increase HIV/AIDS awareness among students:

- Orientation programs emphasizing sexual health and safe practices
- Workshops and seminars led by health professionals
- Distribution of educational materials and condom supplies
- Peer education initiatives to foster open discussions
- Use of social media platforms for targeted messaging

These efforts aim to improve knowledge, dispel myths, and encourage safer sexual behaviours.

HIV Testing and Counseling Services

Access to testing and counseling remains a cornerstone of prevention:

- Confidential testing services available at campus health facilities
- Promotion of voluntary counseling and testing (VCT)
- Linkage to treatment and support services for those who test positive
- Integration of testing services within broader health and wellness programs

Encouraging regular testing helps in early detection, reducing transmission.

Condom Distribution and Safe Sex Promotion

UNISA emphasizes condom use as a key prevention method:

- Free distribution of condoms across campuses and online platforms
- Instruction on correct condom usage
- Promotion of abstinence and mutual fidelity where appropriate

Accessibility and education are critical in normalizing condom use among students.

Challenges in Addressing HIV/AIDS and Sexual Behaviour at UNISA

Stigma and Discrimination

Despite increased awareness, stigma surrounding HIV/AIDS persists, discouraging students from seeking testing or discussing their status openly. This stigma hampers prevention efforts and exacerbates transmission risks.

Lack of Consistent Engagement

The distance learning model and busy schedules of students may limit consistent engagement with health promotion activities, reducing their effectiveness.

Socio-Cultural Barriers

Cultural beliefs and norms can influence attitudes towards sexuality, condom use, and HIV testing, creating additional barriers to behaviour change.

Resource Limitations

Limited funding and logistical challenges may restrict the scope and reach of health education programs and services at UNISA.

Strategies to Improve HIV/AIDS Knowledge and Sexual Behaviour

Enhancing Education and Awareness

Implementing comprehensive, culturally sensitive, and age-appropriate education programs that leverage digital platforms can reach a broader student audience effectively.

Promoting Peer-Led Initiatives

Training students as peer educators fosters trust and relatability, encouraging open conversations about sexual health and HIV prevention.

Integrating Health Services with Academic Support

Embedding HIV testing, counseling, and health promotion into student support services ensures increased accessibility and normalization of health-seeking behaviour.

Addressing Stigma and Discrimination

Campaigns aimed at reducing stigma, promoting acceptance, and fostering a supportive environment are essential for encouraging testing and disclosure.

Conclusion

Understanding the nexus between HIV/AIDS knowledge and sexual behaviour at UNISA is vital in shaping effective prevention and intervention strategies. While awareness levels are relatively high among students, gaps in knowledge, misconceptions, and risky sexual behaviours continue to pose challenges. The university's multifaceted approach—combining education, accessible testing, condom promotion, and peer engagement—has made significant strides, yet ongoing efforts are needed to overcome barriers such as stigma, resource limitations, and socio-cultural influences. By fostering a supportive and informed campus environment, UNISA can empower its students to make safer choices, ultimately reducing the impact of HIV/AIDS within the university community and beyond. Continuous evaluation, innovation, and community involvement will be essential in sustaining progress and achieving long-term health outcomes.

This review explores the state of HIV/AIDS knowledge and sexual behaviour among UNISA students, examining the educational initiatives, behavioural patterns, challenges, and opportunities for improvement.

Introduction to HIV/AIDS Awareness at UNISA

The University of South Africa (UNISA) is renowned for its extensive distance learning programs, attracting a diverse student body across South Africa and beyond. Given its vast and varied population, UNISA has recognized the importance of integrating HIV/AIDS education into its curriculum and student health services. UNISA's approach encompasses a combination of online resources, awareness campaigns, peer education programs, and collaborations with health organizations. These initiatives seek to enhance students' understanding of HIV transmission, prevention strategies, treatment options, and the socio-cultural factors influencing sexual behaviour.

HIV/AIDS Knowledge Among UNISA Students

Assessment of Knowledge Levels

Research and surveys conducted among UNISA students indicate a generally high level of awareness regarding HIV/AIDS. Most students are familiar with primary facts such as modes of transmission, symptoms, and preventive measures. However, gaps in detailed knowledge and misconceptions still persist.

Commonly observed knowledge gaps include:

- Misunderstandings about the effectiveness of certain prevention methods (e.g., misconceptions about condoms or abstinence).
- Confusion surrounding HIV testing procedures and timing.
- Limited awareness of treatment options like antiretroviral therapy (ART).

Sources of Information

Students predominantly rely on:

- University health services and informational campaigns.
- Social media and online platforms.
- Peer discussions and community outreach programs.
- Traditional media such as radio and television.

While these sources are accessible, the credibility and accuracy of information can vary, emphasizing the need for standardized and authoritative educational materials.

Strengths and Limitations of Current Knowledge
