High Feed Costs

Feed constitutes approximately 70% of total production costs. Nigeria relies heavily on imported soybean and maize, which are subject to price volatility and supply disruptions.

Diseases and Biosecurity

Outbreaks of avian influenza, Newcastle disease, and coccidiosis have periodically decimated flocks, causing economic losses and threatening food security.

Infrastructural Deficits

Limited access to quality infrastructure such as reliable electricity, cold storage, and transportation hampers efficiency and product quality.

Market Fluctuations and Price Volatility

Prices of poultry products can fluctuate due to seasonal variations, disease outbreaks, and policy changes, impacting farmers' profitability.

Limited Access to Finance

Many smallholder farmers struggle to secure affordable credit, hindering expansion and modernization efforts.

Regulatory and Policy Challenges

Inconsistent policies, import restrictions, and lack of enforcement of standards create an unpredictable operating environment.

Opportunities in the Nigerian Poultry Sector

Despite challenges, several opportunities make poultry farming an attractive venture:

Growing Domestic Demand

The nation's population growth and urbanization have led to increased consumption of poultry products, with per capita poultry meat consumption rising steadily.

Potential for Value Addition and Processing

Establishing processing plants for products such as processed chicken, sausages, and canned eggs can increase revenue and create employment.

Technological Advancements

Adoption of modern poultry management systems can improve yields, reduce costs, and enhance biosecurity.

Government and Private Sector Initiatives

Programs aimed at supporting poultry farmers through training, subsidies, and access to credit are on the rise.

Export Opportunities

Although still nascent, there is potential for poultry exports to neighboring West African countries, leveraging regional trade agreements.
