The dispute settlement system under U comprises various institutional and procedural components designed to facilitate different stages of dispute resolution. Broadly, it includes:

- Negotiation and Consultation Stage

Before formal proceedings, the system encourages parties to resolve disputes amicably through negotiation or consultation. This informal stage aims to settle conflicts swiftly and amicably, often serving as a prerequisite for formal processes.

- Mediation and Good Offices

If negotiations fail, parties may opt for alternative dispute resolution methods such as mediation, facilitated by a neutral third party. The system promotes these methods to reduce burdens on formal adjudicative bodies and to foster mutually acceptable solutions.

- Formal Dispute Resolution Mechanisms

When amicable methods do not yield results, the system provides several formal avenues:

- Advisory Bodies: For non-binding opinions or recommendations.
- Arbitration Panels: Binding decisions made by panels of experts or arbitrators.
- Panel of Experts: Specialized panels for technical disputes.
- Adjudicatory Bodies: Such as tribunals or courts established under the system.

Procedural Framework of Dispute Resolution under U

The effectiveness of the dispute settlement system under U hinges on its well-defined procedures, designed to ensure fairness, efficiency, and finality.

- Initiation of Dispute

The process begins when a party formally notifies the other(s) of a dispute, submitting a written request for resolution. The notification must specify the nature of the dispute, relevant facts, and legal or contractual claims.

- Consultation Phase

Following initiation, parties are encouraged to engage in consultations within a specified period (commonly 30-60 days). This phase aims to explore settlement options without proceeding to formal proceedings.

- Mediation or Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR)

If consultations fail, parties may agree or be directed to mediation, facilitated by a neutral third party, to attempt a mutually acceptable resolution.

- Formal Proceedings

If ADR does not resolve the dispute, formal proceedings commence, which may involve:

- Submission of written briefs: Parties present their arguments and evidence.
- Hearings: Oral presentations, cross-examinations, and clarifications.
- Expert testimonies: Particularly in technical or specialized disputes.
- Deliberation and decision: The tribunal or panel evaluates the case.

- Decision and Enforcement

The final decision (award or ruling) is issued within a predetermined timeframe, often 6-12 months from the start of proceedings. The decision is binding on parties and enforceable under the system's legal framework, with provisions for compliance and enforcement mechanisms.
